Folks, due to traveling plans for both John and I, we will be taking a break in the auctions starting next week. It's a little tough for us to keep track of things from Brazil :)

So, enjoy the current auction which closes tonight at 8 pm and the following auction which goes from Saturday to Monday, then we will see you next on the 28th.

Right now, there are 57 interesting specimens with some very low bids just waiting for you.

Thanks, Keith

ps, send kqhayes@earthlink.net a quick note if you want to be removed from the mailing list and we will delete you from the auction.

pps, sorry for delays in my responses as I am changing jobs and will soon be moving to Cinci. I am very excited!
