Subject: website news at Dan Weinrich Minerals

I have now returned from Munich. It was great meeting some of you at the show!

While away I was unable to access the internet. Now that I have returned home the auctions will resume as usual. I will have new specimens posted to the auction website by Tuesday evening.

I will begin updating the regular website on a consistent basis again within one week.

Thank you for your patience on this! I will send out another message after the first update appears.
