Subject:  The 1st ever Pre-Dallas Show Mineral Sale! **

Greetings!

It's hard to believe it but the Dallas Mineral Show is only two weeks away. I hope everyone gets a chance to attend the event this year - only its second year but one which has seen the show double in size. The show is being held at the Embassy Suites Hotel near the Galleria on May 2 - 4. I'll be set up in the very easy to remember room number 222.

In order to make some space for new items coming in from the show (and there will be plenty), I've decided to drop the price on all Denver 2007 rooms specimens by 20% or more. Please keep in mind that many of the website's finest specimens are in these rooms so this is the perfect chance to land a big discount on a some great specimens with a short website exposure.

The sale will last for only two weeks until the show. Here's the first room link for easy access:

There are 17 rooms in all and each can be accessed using the link at the bottom of every page. And if you feel really adventurous, I'll offer the same discount to the Tucson 2007 room items! 19 rooms in total beginning here:

I hope to see everyone at the show!

Kevin
