Subject: Demantoid Garnet from Jeffery Quarry, Canada

Welcome to Wrights Rock Shop

I created the Demantoid Gallery on 12/23/09. Jeffery Quarry, Quebec, Canada is flooded and abandoned. On 4/25/2009, a group of diehard collectors discovered a pocket of bright green garnets. Green Grossular garnet is sometimes found in this area. Due to the presence of amphibole and a coloration difference, an analysis of the garnets was made that proved the new garnet to be andradite, variety demantoid garnet. The new demantoids are among the best that have been found in North America.
