We are very proud to announce that we have acquired the collection of Wolfgang Henkel, Speyer, Germany.

This excellent collection of about 3000 specimens was assembled during the past 45 plus years. Excellent suites of German classics, rare Binn Valley species, Namibian minerals, Russian minerals, gem crystals, etc., etc. Many excellent "systematic" specimens as well. Numerous specimens have old labels, many have been figured in various books and magazines.

There are several sets of specimens that are figured in paintings by Eberhard Equit; the specimens will be available with the original painting.

Many other neat things such as crystal model sets, instruments, books, Saxon Barte Axes, Surveyors Sticks, coins, mining lamps, etc. complete the collection.

We will only have about 30 of the minerals at the Denver Show. The rest of the collection will processed and ready for sale around mid to late October. We will begin placing material on the website, in both the regular galleries and auctions, very soon.

We feel that this collection really "compliments" our other recent acquisitions, the Lloyd Tate and Steve Pullman collections. All three collections are unique enough, in their own ways, to make our overall stock quite varied and very interesting.
