The Auction Closes Tomorrow at 9 PM Central

The Tucson Show Mineral Auction will begin closing tomorrow evening on Wednesday, August 28th at 9 PM central time / 10 PM eastern time.

Bidding is starting to pick up now that we're in the final two days but there are still many specimens which need opening bids and most everything is still near or below the suggested reserves. The bargains are incredible and specimens such as a rare German Silver, a pink-tipped Spodumene with Goshenite, an Alexandrite crystal cluster, a rare and historical crystalline Gold from Nevada, Precious Topaz and bi-colored Beryls from Pakistan, etc. still need opening bids!! It's hard to believe it but the slow bidding is your opportunity to win beautiful, high quality mineral specimens at wholesale or less price levels! I hope everyone will take advantage and attend the closing Wednesday night.
