Dear David A.,

Our Featured Mineral of the Month for October is Realgar-Orpiment a composite specimen. Both minerals are unique for their unusual and often vivid colors. Orpiment for the golden-yellow and the Realgar for the deeper reddish orange to bright orange.

I found it very interesting that if the Realgar is left out in bright light for extended periods of time it turns to what looks like the orpiment. The orange morphs into yellow!

These specimens were collected at the Quiruvilca Mine in Peru. They are visually very interesting and some are just absolutely stunning! Read more about this specimen in our platinum letter and extensive write up.

The Offerings for October span the globe from Chile to the United States. This month after numerous requests for fossils we have added a Trilobite fossil to the selection. A unique find this month is a Barite from Lawrence County, New York. For more details see the offer sheet.

A reminder that under the Mineral of the Month tab on our website you can find past and present platinum letters, offers sheets as well as write ups from 1996 to present.
