Subject: New Updates - Note about this week's auction

View our latest additions, plus the auction closes tonight!

WEINRICH MINERALS

I continue to add new specimens to the website. The latest updates feature a small suite of excellent specimens from Bisbee, Arizona, as well as other interesting pieces. I will continue to add new items on a regular basis during the coming days. Be sure to check out our Latest Additions.

Please note that that for the first time in 14 years, there will be no auction this week. The closing date of the auction would have been Christmas say. Lisa is taking off for the holiday, so I decided to hold off on an auction this week. We will have a large new update of auction specimens available on December 27, for an auction to get us back on the proper Tuesday night closing schedule, closing January 1, 2019.
