Subject: End of Summer Minerals Posted - Part I

New minerals are now online at johnbetts-fineminerals.com

Summer is over, school is back in session, and we have returned to work.

During the summer many great mineral specimens, including choice minerals from my private collection, were posted to my web site.

But they were overlooked because of vacation, holiday travels and family distractions.

So this week I posted some of the best minerals from June again. These are not all of the minerals posted in June. These are the specimens that I consider noteworthy.
